COUNTER REVOLUTION IS BREWING AMONG GERMANY'S MASSES

Reactionaries Said to be Planning Revolt to Re-establish Monarchy Against Activities of Proletariate.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—Counter revolutions are brewing in Germany, according to openly printed political plans in the newspapers. The new year finds this country filled with conflicting political agitations, in addition to the problems left by the war.

The reactionaries are said to be planning a revolt to re-establish the monarchy while the radicals are reported to be plotting an uprising to bring a dictatorship into the hands of the proletariat.

The government with a chip on its shoulder, proclaims that it will ruthlessly combat all attempts to overturn it. Berlin newspapers are printing revolutionary aims of their respective political parties for 1920.

"We have seen in 1919 what a king means to the fatherland," said the Zeitung. "The republic cannot dispute that our dead died with God for the king and the fatherland. In these God forsaken times we should consecrate ourselves to revive the good old rights and justice and the privileges to enter the king's service. We shall be just as true in hate as in love."

"The Freiheit calls its followers to a class war during the coming year."

"The revolution was ripe fruit and it fell into the lap of the German proletariat too early and before the proletariat could understand how to retain the results of the revolution and use it for the advancement of true socialism. The revolution's benefits are in the hands of the reactionary bourgeoisie."

The paper urges that the force which are to wage the revolution of class war shall be organized systematically.

Vorwarts, the official organ of the social democrats, says that the events of 1919 give confidence that Germany has the moral courage to follow in the right path but it looks for a year filled with tribulations. It printed the following warning:

"To the fanatics of the past: You have played with war for six years. You have fared badly in your attempted civil war. You will fare much worse in the future if you make any further attempts."

CHARGE OPERATORS WITH ATTEMPT TO BREAK UP UNIONS

Columbus, O., Jan. 3.—That the coal operators in the bituminous fields are discharging miners in an attempt to break up the unions is the charge made by John L. Lewis, of Indianapolis, acting president of the United Miner Workers of America. Lewis will arrive here today to attend the miners convention the first of next week.

As the agreement with the federal government, by which the miners returned to work, was that the status of October 31, the day previous to the strike, should be in effect, Lewis says the operators are showing bad faith in discharging the men.

AGENTS FROM MOONSHINE COUNTRY REPLACE INSPECTORS IN BROOKLYN

New York, Jan. 3.—Eleven revenue agents from the moonshine country of Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia, ordered from stalking mountain stills to plunge into the prohibition enforcement campaign in Brooklyn, went into action by arresting two of the proprietors, a bartender and a waiter of one of the biggest and most popular of that borough's cafes.

The southern agents were brought here to replace eight inspectors transferred elsewhere after the discovery that Brooklyn was the source from which came much of the poisoned "whisky" which spread death through Connecticut.

William D. Allen, Jr., chief of the revenue men from the moonshine country, and one assistant, entered "The Assembly," ordered sherry, obtained it promptly and paid for it in the presence of two of the proprietors, they said. Then they arrested the owners, the bartender and the waiter who served them. Later the men were arraigned before a federal commissioner, who released them on bail.

The shakeup in the revenue force assigned to Brooklyn followed a conference between District Attorney Ross and Colonel Daniel L. Porter, supervising internal revenue agent in the New York district. The new agents, headed by Allen, never had been in Brooklyn, they declared.

COURT OF APPEALS REVERSES RULING OF LOWER BENCH

CASE OF CITY VS. H. E. SCHMIDT TAKES NEW TURN.

SATURDAY.

Give Opportunity of Appealing Decision

Decision of Police Court Sustained by Action of Court on Saturday.

The decision of Judge Clevenger of Wilmington sitting on the local common pleas bench, was reversed, and that of the police court affirmed by the Court of Appeals, in the case of H. E. Schmidt, charged with violation of the city awning ordinance.

The opinion of the Appellate court was received Saturday morning. A few weeks ago, the same court sustained Judge Clevenger's opinion in favor of Mr. Schmidt in the sidewalk obstruction case, the twin action to the awning ordinance.

Mr. Schmidt made test suits of the awning and sidewalk cases. He refused to comply with the terms of the ordinances when they became effective, and was arrested and fined in police court for their violation. He carried both cases to the court of common pleas, where Judge Clevenger of Wilmington rendered decisions in his favor. The city took both actions to the higher court on error.

The awning ordinance makes it unlawful to maintain any awnings or sign board over or across any sidewalk a distance greater than eight feet from the line of any building, and at a height from the sidewalk of less than seven feet, or to erect or maintain an awning or sign board having a post for support in the street or

DENY REQUEST FOR RESTRAINING ORDER ON AUTO TAX LAW

Columbus, O., Jan. 3.—Application for an immediate temporary restraining order to prevent enforcement of the new graduated auto tax law was denied by Common Pleas Judge Kinkead. A hearing on the application will be held by Judge Kinkead next Tuesday afternoon.

The suit, attacking the constitutionality of the new law, was filed by the Ohio State Automobile Association, through its attorneys, C. D. Saviers and W. D. Meals, of Cleveland, against Secretary of State Smith.

In its petition, the auto men, declared that the taxes proposed by the law are "excessive, unreasonable and unlawful," and that the law is a revenue measure, not regulatory. The auto club asserts that the administration will cost more than $168,000 for 1920, while the revenue will approximate nearly $7,000,000.

Attorney General Price announced that there would be no prosecutions until the constitutionality of the law is determined. He opposed the granting of a temporary restraining order.

NEW LEAD OPENS IN SEARCH AFTER MAN'S MURDERER

THEORY ADVANCED THAT PROFESSIONAL GUNMAN MAY BE GUILTY.

Additional Evidence Against Mrs. Brown

Wife Said to Have Purchased Mourning Garb Week Before the Murder.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Jan. 3.—Detectives working directly under the attorney general today began following a new trail in the murder of J. Stanley Brown, wealthy young club man, whose bullet scarred body was found on a lonely road near here ten days ago.

The attorney general ordered that search be begun for a professional gunman, with whom it is believed Brown had dealings shortly before his death. Brown is reported to have carried on his person at the time approximately $12,000 in travelers checks, payable to bearer and easily negotiable.

This new angle to the mysterious case is looked upon with considerable interest as it leads entirely away from all those who are now figuring prominently in the case—Cecil Vester, "Cecil of the Auburn hair," who is now in jail charged with Brown's murder, Lloyd Prevost, an intimate friend of Brown's who is held as a suspect and Ruth Prevost Brown, the widow.

The inquiry so far has developed some incriminating evidence against Mrs. Brown, who is also Prevost's cousin. The latest bit of this is the assertion of Mrs. George Schwark, local dressmaker that Mrs. Brown came down to her a week before her husband's murder and ordered a mourning costume.

QUESTION WOMAN AS TO ALLEGED SHORTAGE OF CITY FUNDS, REPORT

Warren, O., Jan. 3.—Interesting developments in the probe of the alleged shortage in city funds amounting to $50,000 were expected today following the visit of local officers to Cleveland where a woman was questioned.

According to officials investigating the case the name of the woman was given them by Charles B. Kistler, ex-city treasurer, who is said to have confessed responsibility for the big shortage and who is in jail charged with embezzling city funds.

It is said that Kistler in his confession declared that he appropriated the city funds in small amounts over a period of six years and that he had spent the greater amount on "the woman." Kistler is married, the father of three daughters and a grandchild.

Representatives of the state auditing department were expected here today to make an official audit of the city's books. The shortages were discovered when Kistler retired from office after serving eight years as city treasurer. His arrest followed a hasty audit by his successor. According to the preliminary examination the shortage amounts to $50,230 and represents payments of property owners of assessments for paving, sewerage and sidewalks. They amounted to several hundred dollars a day and had never been deposited by Kistler, it is alleged.

WEATHER MAN PLAYS LOW DOWN TRICK SATURDAY

Friday night was as devoid of warmth as a Bolshevik is of barbers' bills.

The mercury acted as reticent during the wee'ly hours of Saturday morning as a war hero at a coming out party, and coyly it would itself up in the lower extremity of the tube.

For the first time this winter the liquid in the family Fahrenheit registered as low as nothing. In many places the thermometers registered below zero Saturday morning and in Xenia city two degrees minus was a happy average.

There can be little hope gleaned from the weather man either, who advertises "continued cold" for Saturday and Sunday.

HUNDRED PEOPLE SENT TO ISLAND FOR DEPORTATION

PERSONS APPEAR IN HAPPY STATE OF MIND AS THEY LEAVE CITY.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 3.—One hundred and seven persons, including 12 women, who were arrested in communist raids by federal agents in this city and vicinity, were sent to Ellis Island today for immediate deportation proceedings.

A report was incirculation that four bombs had been found in a house that was raided in Adams street. The bombs were said to be hollow iron balls and one of them was taken to the federal building and placed in a pail of water for future examination.

Between 400 and 500 persons were arrested in this city, but most of the prisoners were subsequently released. More than 700 others were sent to this city after being arrested in other parts of northern New Jersey. Three hundred men and women were arrested in Hudson county. About six women, most of them young girls were taken in raids throughout the northern part of the state. Half of them were held and the others released on account of the lack of evidence.

Many of the girl prisoners appeared to be about 17 years of age, and they amused themselves by "playing tag" on the deck of the steamer Thomas C. Millard, which carried them to Ellis Island.

WOULD END PEACE TREATY FIGHT BY FAIR COMPROMISE

AGREEMENT ON ARTICLE 10 SOUGHT BY SENATE LEADERS.

Hold Several Big Conferences Report

Lodge Declares Any Compromise Must Come From Democrats.

Washington, Jan. 3.—The next move to obtain a compromise on the peace treaty is up to the Democrats, leading Republican senators said, following a conference with Senator Lodge.

Democrats are now at work upon concrete proposals which they have already submitted in part to Republican reservationists. When these proposals have been completed they will be placed before the Republican leaders.

Senator McNary, mild reservationist, following his talks with Senator Lodge, said he had Lodge sympathetic toward a compromise provided it is made without any substantial change in the Lodge reservations. McNary said the conference was not productive of anything definite.

The only surface developments to indicate the trend of negotiations were a number of conferences in which both Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, acting leader of the Democrats, were prominent figures, though they did not see one another.

Who should make the first open move for a compromise, however, continues to be a warmly debated question, each side apparently maneuvering, while the negotiations went on under the surface, to force the other side to be the first to break from its former position. Senator Lodge still maintains that any compromise must come from the Democrats, and Senator Hitchcock insists that the initiative should be taken by the Republicans.

Article 10 continued the crux of all the discussions, neither side having found much favor for its round about proposals on the subject. Next in prominence was the question of voting power in the league of nations, with the Democrats apparently determined to make some modification in the reservation adopted at the last session by the Republican majority. There were a few other points of difference, but the general impression seemed to be that an agreement on article 10 would almost end the whole controversy.

EX-KAISER FAMILY DISCUSS TROUBLES

London, Jan. 3.—The former German crown prince, who has been spending the holidays with his parents, the ex-kaiser and kaiserin, near Amerongen, took part in family councils which reached important decisions regarding the extradition of the kaiser for trial, said a dispatch from The Hague to the Daily Mail today.

The ex-kaiserin's hope for reconciliation between the former kaiser and his son has been blocked because of the meager allowance which William is granting his son.

NATION WIDE RAIDS ON 'REDS' CHECK PLAN OF A 'SOVIET AMERICA'

Over 2,500 Persons Have Been Taken Into Custody in What is Said to be Greatest Roundup in History.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Government officials today declared that the backbone of an incipient revolution in the United States had been broken.

The nation wide raids, they declared, against headquarters of the Communist Labor Parties effectively checked a movement which had for its purpose the establishment of a "soviet America."

Early reports to the department of justice said that more than 2,500 persons, both men and women, already had been taken into custody throughout the United States. The drive continuing everywhere today.

MAYOR ELECT OF YELLOW SPRINGS REFUSES OFFICE

FORMER INCUMBENT IS SWORN IN FOR ANOTHER TERM OF OFFICE

Mayor Receives Remuneration of $100

Councilman Also Refuses to Serve Following His Election

Because Oliver Garlough, retired farmer, and mayor-elect of Yellow Springs village, refused to qualify at the first meeting of the new council Tuesday night, Thomas Donnelly would-be retiring mayor, has been sworn in for another term.

Herman Coe, elected councilman, followed suit with Garlough, and also refused to accept the job, and now the council is casting about for a man to fill his place.

It all started when Mayor Donnelly, who has held that office for several terms, refused to stand for re-nomination on the Republican ticket last summer.

As a result Oliver Garlough was nominated and in November he was elected to fill the position. When the newly elected village council met Thursday night, mayor-elect Garlough did not appear and when word came that Garlough did not want the job and would not accept it, Mayor Donnelly was called upon to sacrifice himself on the altar of public service until the next election and he was sworn in for a new term. As yet no one has been secured to fill the place of councilman-elect Herman Coe, who also resigned.

Just why office holding seems so unpopular in Yellow Springs, which is not the case of other places, is not known. The mayor of Yellow Springs receives $100 a year. He presides over council and runs police court, and each of the councilmen receives $2 for each meeting.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMITTEE GIVEN POWER TO FIX RAILROAD RATES

SUBPOENAS ISSUED FOR TWO MEXICANS TO APPEAR AT CAPITAL

Washington, Jan. 3.—Two Mexicans have been subpoenaed to appear today before the sub-committee of the senate foreign relations committee, investigating the Mexican situation. They are Emiliano Lopez Figueroa, said to be the head of the Mexican secret service in this country, and Rafael Martinez Carrillo, a Mexican lawyer and official under the Diaz and Huerta administrations.

The sub-committee will cross-examine these witnesses with regard to the case of William O. Jenkins, American consular agent who was held in Mexico after being kidnapped, on charges of conspiracy against the Carranza government. The sub-committee expects to show through these witnesses that arrangements for his bail and release of Jenkins were made after representations of the Mexican government in this country had wired Carranza that such action was necessary to relieve the situation which was becoming acute.

One official of the department of justice declared that "higher power" are being sought. He stated a link may be established between the activities here and the operations of Russian soviet government. This is borne out, he declared, by the capture of several leaders who arrived recently from Russia.

Orders had been issued for the arrest of some 40,000 members of the Communist and Communist Labor Parties. Officials predicted that before the arrests would run well over 3,000.

All of the arrests made were for purpose of deportation, officials said, and if the department succeeds in stopping those arrested away from American shores it will feel that a step has been taken towards freeing America from agitators who advocate force for the overthrow of the government. The raid had been planned many weeks and the date had been set for more than a week with instructions issued agents throughout the tire nation to begin the roundup simultaneously. The plans were for time threatened by the premature staged by local authorities in Chicago over the protest of federal officers.

800 Captured in N. Y. The largest number of arrests made in New York, where more than 800 are reported to have been captured. Detroit, Jersey City, Chicago, Philadelphia and Buffalo also ran up in the number of arrests.

Large quantities of literature urged direct action by workers to establish their own government are reported to have been taken in the documents made public by the department of justice show that the Communist and Communist Labor Parties were working actively to enter ranks of labor and to "bore from within." The Communist party had issued a document urging action to organize the negroes to aid in overthrow of the government.

While evidence is not complete, it is expected that it will be shown to the Communist and Communist Labor parties were actually a single organization, working with a single purpose.

The work of breaking up revolutionary groups is not complete yet, officials of the department of justice today. They predicted that there would be more raids and that the department will make special efforts to clean up entire groups, instead of scattering efforts and making arrests of members of various groups and organizations.

WOULD END PEACE TREATY FIGHT BY FAIR COMPROMISE

AGREEMENT ON ARTICLE 10 SOUGHT BY SENATE LEADERS.

Hold Several Big Conferences Report

Lodge Declares Any Compromise Must Come From Democrats.

Washington, Jan. 3.—The next move to obtain a compromise on the peace treaty is up to the Democrats, leading Republican senators said, following a conference with Senator Lodge.

Democrats are now at work upon concrete proposals which they have already submitted in part to Republican reservationists. When these proposals have been completed they will be placed before the Republican leaders.

Senator McNary, mild reservationist, following his talks with Senator Lodge, said he had Lodge sympathetic toward a compromise provided it is made without any substantial change in the Lodge reservations. McNary said the conference was not productive of anything definite.

The only surface developments to indicate the trend of negotiations were a number of conferences in which both Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, acting leader of the Democrats, were prominent figures, though they did not see one another.

Who should make the first open move for a compromise, however, continues to be a warmly debated question, each side apparently maneuvering, while the negotiations went on under the surface, to force the other side to be the first to break from its former position. Senator Lodge still maintains that any compromise must come from the Democrats, and Senator Hitchcock insists that the initiative should be taken by the Republicans.

Article 10 continued the crux of all the discussions, neither side having found much favor for its roundabout proposals on the subject. Next in prominence was the question of voting power in the league of nations, with the Democrats apparently determined to make some modification in the reservation adopted at the last session by the Republican majority. There were a few other points of difference, but the general impression seemed to be that an agreement on article 10 would almost end the whole controversy.

FORMER INCUMBENT IS SWORN IN FOR ANOTHER TERM OF OFFICE

Mayor Receives Remuneration of $100

Councilman Also Refuses to Serve Following His Election

Because Oliver Garlough, retired farmer, and mayor-elect of Yellow Springs village, refused to qualify at the first meeting of the new council Tuesday night, Thomas Donnelly would be returning mayor, has been sworn in for another term.

Herman Coe, elected councilman, followed suit with Garlough, and also refused to accept the job, and now the council is casting about for a man to fill his place.

It all started when Mayor Donnelly, who has held that office for several terms, refused to stand for re-nomination on the Republican ticket last summer.

As a result Oliver Garlough was nominated and in November he was elected to fill the position. When the newly elected village council met Thursday night, mayor-elect Garlough did not appear and when word came that Garlough did not want the job and would not accept it, Mayor Donnelly was called upon to sacrifice himself on the altar of public service until the next election and he was sworn in for a new term. As yet no one has been secured to fill the place of councilman-elect Herman Coe, who also resigned.

Just why office holding seems so unpopular in Yellow Springs, which is not the case of other places, is not known. The mayor of Yellow Springs receives $100 a year. He presides over council and runs police court, and each of the councilmen receives $2 for each meeting.

SUBPOENAS ISSUED FOR TWO MEXICANS TO APPEAR AT CAPITAL

Washington, Jan. 3.—Two Mexicans have been subpoenaed to appear today before the sub-committee of the senate foreign relations committee, investigating the Mexican situation. They are Emiliano Lopez Figueroa, said to be the head of the Mexican secret service in this country, and Rafael Martinez Carrillo, a Mexican lawyer and official under the Diaz and Huerta administrations.

The sub-committee will cross examine these witnesses with regard to the case of William O. Jenkins, American consular agent who was held in Mexico after being kidnapped, on charges of conspiracy against the Carranza government. The sub-committee expects to show through these witnesses that arrangements for the bail and release of Jenkins were made after representation of the Mexican government in this country had wired Carranza that such action was necessary to relieve the situation which was becoming acute.

One official of the department of justice declared that "higher powers" are being sought. He stated a link may be established between the tactics here and the operations of Russian soviet government. This is borne out, he declared, by the capture of several leaders who arrived recently from Russia.

Orders had been issued for the arrest of some 40,000 members of the Communist and Communist Labor Parties. Officials predicted that before the raids are finally completed that the number arrested would run well over 3,000.

All of the arrests made were for purpose of deportation, officials said, and if the department succeeds in stripping those arrested away from American shores it will feel that a first step has been taken towards freedom from agitators who advocate force for the overthrow of the government. The raid had been planned many weeks and the date had been set for more than a week with instructions issued agents throughout the nation to begin the roundup simultaneously. The plans were for time threatened by the premature staged by local authorities in Chicago over the protest of federal officials.

800 Captured in N. Y. The largest number of arrests was made in New York, where more than 800 are reported to have been captured. Detroit, Jersey City, Philadelphia and Buffalo also ran up in the number of arrests.

Large quantities of literature urged direct action by workers to establish their own government are reported to have been taken in the raid. Documents made public by the department of justice show that the Communist and Communist Labor parties were working actively to enter ranks of labor and to "bore from within." The Communist party had issued a document urging attention to organize the negroes to aid in overthrow of the government.

While evidence is not complete, it is expected that it will be shown to the Communist and Communist Labor parties were actually a single organization, working with a single purpose.

The work of breaking up revolutionary groups is not complete yet, officials of the department of justice today. They predicted that there would be more raids and that the department will make special efforts to clean up various groups and organizations.

GERMANY WON'T SEND FURTHER PEACE MESSAGES

UNDERSTANDING WITH THE ENTENTE HAS BEEN FINALLY REACHED.

That Berlin considers peace questions according to foreign office officials will be sent to the allies by Germany, who declared today that this country has at last reached an understanding with the entente which precludes the possibility of future friction. Final details are being worked out by Baron Kurt Von Lersner and Herr Von Simon in Paris.

That Berlin considers the peace question as virtually closed is shown by foreign secretary Muller's announcement that he is departing for a ten day's vacation.

It is understood here that the protocol of ratification will not be signed on January 6 as originally reported, but that the signatures will be delayed until the middle of the month because of the numerous details to be cleared up. Some of these refer to regulations for plebiscites in various countries but there is said to be no disagreement over them.

The allies are not hurrying Germany. The cause for this leisure is said to be the hope that the United States may yet ratify the peace treaty before it becomes effective in Europe by the exchange of allied ratifications.

WILLIAM H. BULL DIES ON SATURDAY FOLLOWING ILLNESS

William H. Bull, well-known Greene County and retired farmer, died suddenly at 12 o'clock noon, Saturday from heart trouble, at his home 124 South Galloway street.

He had been ill from heart trouble for the last two months but was up and able to be around the house. While sitting in a chair at his home at noon Saturday he had a recurrence of the trouble and died within fifteen minutes.

William H. Bull was a son of the late James R. and Amelia Bull, and was born in the Clark's Run neighborhood October 5, 1845, being 74 years of age at the time of his death. He had lived on a farm in that neighborhood until a year ago when he retired and came to this city to make his home.

Mr. Bull married Miss Anna L. Stevenson, in 1877 and she survives with one daughter, Mrs. Walter Watkins of this city. Two sons born to the union died in infancy. He also leaves two brothers, Richard E. and Lewis Bull both of this city.

ROME RAIL MEN AGAIN THREATEN TO WALK OUT

Rome, Jan. 3.—The railway men today served an ultimatum upon the government demanding a 48 hour week and a wage increase of 200 lire monthly. They threatened to strike if their demands were rejected. If the wage increase were granted it would add 450,000,000 lire to the government budget.

COURT OF APPEALS

sidewalk. Mr. Schmidt was charged with violation of these sections of the ordinance.

In rendering its decision the court says: "A court of common pleas based its decision in favor of the defendant in error upon the ground that the defendant in error had a vested right to maintain the awning, and awning posts unless it be affirmatively shown that some inconvenience resulted to the public."

"We do not think the fact that this awning has been maintained for more than twenty-one years gave the defendant in error a legal right to maintain the same. The presumption is that the maintenance of the awning is permissive and not adverse. The city might therefore assert its right at any time, notwithstanding the fact that the awning had been maintained for a long period of time. We do not think it was incumbent upon the city to prove that the awning was an inconvenience to the public in the use of the streets. The control of the street is in the city, and the burden of proving that the ordinance under the circumstances of this case was unreasonable and oppressive rested upon the defendant in the trial court."

"There was evidence offered by the prosecution tending to prove that the sidewalk at the place of business of the defendant in error was much frequented and at times congested. The trial court might fairly reach the conclusion that the awning posts were some obstruction to the public travel, and that the enforcement of the ordinance would not be unreasonable or oppressive."

"We are therefore of the opinion that judgment of the court of common pleas should be reversed, and that of the police court affirmed. In order to permit defendant in error to carry this case to supreme court, it will be ordered that the judgment of this court be suspended for thirty days from the date of this journal entry."

The decision was rendered by Judge H. L. Ferneding with Judges Alread and Kunkle concurring.

Attorneys for the city in the case are solicitor J. A. Finney, and Mr. J. Hartley. The defendant's counsel are Marcus Shoup, M. A. Broadstone, Frank L. Johnson, of Xenia, and McGrew and Laybourne of Springfield.

this morning a steady stream of alleged "reds" poured into the federal building in the most extensive raid yet engineered in Cleveland by Federal officials.

In all 85 were rounded up. Warrants for a score more are being served today. Of the total arrested 42 were sent to the county jail, 23 held for further questioning at the offices of the department of justice and ten released. Bliss Morton, department of justice agent, indicated today that deportation proceedings will be instituted against about half of those rounded up last night. He indicated that more serious proceedings might be instituted against a few of those held.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will give you a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar to fill up to the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy that you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for direct and quick relief.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

As the men and women were arrested and they were rushed to New York headquarters of the department of justice and questioned. Some of those who were ordered held were sent to the immigration station on Ellis Island during the morning. It was said that deportation proceedings would be started against them at once.

Human Life Needs Beauty. Men cannot live by bread alone. The mind cannot develop on an exclusively scientific diet. If we sat on our spinning globe and studied only the physical laws that keep it going we should become either lunatics or machines. The lines of beauty in the form and decoration of a vase, and the studied harmony of tones and colors that stir the soul, as though they were musical sounds, are like to the inscriptions made on his dungeon walls by a life prisoner, who, with their aid, drives away madness and keeps his mind sweet.—Chicago American.

GERMANY WON'T SEND FURTHER PEACE MESSAGES

UNDERSTANDING WITH THE ENTENTE HAS BEEN FINALLY REACHED.

That Berlin considers peace questions to foreign office officials will be sent to the allies by Germany, who declared today that this country has at last reached an understanding with the entente which precludes the possibility of future friction. Final details are being worked out by Baron Kurt Von Lersner and Herr Von Simon in Paris.

That Berlin considers the peace question as virtually closed is shown by foreign secretary Muller's announcement that he is departing for a ten day's vacation.

It is understood here that the protocol of ratification will not be signed on January 6 as originally reported, but that the signatures will be delayed until the middle of the month because of the numerous details to be cleared up. Some of these refer to regulations for plebiscites in various countries but there is said to be no disagreement over them.

The allies are not hurrying Germany. The cause for this leisure is said to be the hope that the United States may yet ratify the peace treaty before it becomes effective in Europe by the exchange of allied ratifications.

ROME RAIL MEN AGAIN THREATEN TO WALK OUT

Rome, Jan. 5.—The railway men today served an ultimatum upon the government demanding a 48 hour week and a wage increase of 200 lire monthly. They threatened to strike if their demands were rejected. If the wage increase were granted it would add 450,000,000 lire to the government budget.

COURT OF APPEALS

sidewalk. Mr. Schmidt was charged with violation of these sections of the ordinance.

In rendering its decision the court says:

"A court of common pleas based its decision in favor of the defendant in error upon the ground that the defendant in error had a vested right to maintain the awning and awning posts unless it be affirmatively shown that some inconvenience resulted to the public.

"We do not think the fact that this awning has been maintained for more than twenty-one years gave the defendant in error a legal right to maintain the same. The presumption is that the maintenance of the awning is permissive and not adverse. The city might therefore assert its right at any time, notwithstanding the fact that the awning had been maintained for a long period of time. We do not think it was incumbent upon the city to prove that the awning was an inconvenience to the public the use of the streets. The control of the street is in the city, and the burden of proving that the ordinance under the circumstances of this case was unreasonable and oppressive rested upon the defendant in the trial court.

"There was evidence offered by the prosecution tending to prove that the sidewalk at the place of business of the defendant in error was much frequented and at times congested. The trial court might fairly reach the conclusion that the awning posts were some obstruction to the public travel, and that the enforcement of the ordinance would not be unreasonable or oppressive.

"We are therefore of the opinion that judgment of the court of common pleas should be reversed, and that of the police court affirmed.

"In order to permit defendant in error to carry this case to supreme court, it will be ordered that the judgment of this court be suspended for thirty days from the date of this journal entry."

The decision was rendered by Judge H. L. Ferneding with Judges Alread and Kunkle concurring.

Attorneys for the city in the case are solicitor J. A. Finney, and M. J. Hartley. The defendant's counsel are Marcus Shoup, M. A. Broadstone, Frank L. Johnson, of Xenia, and McGraw and Laybourne of Springfield.

NATION WIDE

this morning a steady stream of alleged "reds" poured into the federal building in the most extensive raid yet engineered in Cleveland by Federal officials.

In all 85 were rounded up. Warrants for a score more are being served today. Of the total arrested 42 were sent to the county jail, 23 held for further questioning at the offices of the department of justice and ten released. Bliss Morton, department of justice agent, indicated today that deportation proceedings will be instituted against about half of those rounded up last night. He intimated that more serious proceedings might be instituted against a few of these held.

New York Police Active.—New York, Jan. 3.—Two hundred and one men and women who were arrested in this city in the government's greatest drive against "red" sympathizers were held by the department of justice today on the charge of being alien communists who were seeking to overthrow the U. S. government by violence.

Six hundred and fifty, including fifty women, were arrested in a series of spectacular raids carried out by agents of the department of justice, policemen and plain clothes detectives against

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

In a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Sore throat, whooping cough, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract. It has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

the various headquarters of the Communist and Communist Labor Party in this city and vicinity. All but the 201 were released after being questioned.

Chief William Flynn, who was in charge of the officers, said that he still had about 600 warrants to be served. As the men and women were arrested and they were rushed to New York headquarters of the department of justice and questioned. Some of those who were ordered held were sent to the immigration station on Ellis Island during the morning. It was said that deportation proceedings would be started against them at once.

Human Life Needs Beauty.

Men cannot live by bread alone. The mind cannot develop on an exclusively scientific diet. If we sat on our spinning globe and studied only the physical laws that keep it going we should become either lunatics or machines. The lines of beauty in the form and decoration of a vase, and the studied harmony of tones and colors that stir the soul, as though they were musical sounds, are like the inscriptions made on his dungeon walls by a life prisoner, who, with their aid, drives away madness and keeps his mind sweet.—Chicago American.

FINAL CHAPTER IN FIRE CHIEF CASE WRITTEN

CITY COMMISSION WILL ACT ON MATTER THURSDAY AT MEETING.

The final settlement of the now famous Buckles case, in which City Manager Riddle filed ouster charges against Fire Chief William Buckles, will be made Thursday, January 8.

At that time the commission will take up an entire reorganization plan for the fire department, and will probably pass an ordinance defining the duties of the different members of the department which will embody a clause providing for substitute firemen including Chief Buckles, who will be put on as a substitute as a salary of $40 a month.

This is the amount that is allowed retired firemen in practically all cities as a pension. The commission will take up the proposition of providing a pension for retired police and firemen also at this meeting.

Such a proposition must be put to a vote of the people before it is put into effect, the voters electing to either establish or not establish a levy to provide for such a fund.

Until such a time as a pension is provided Chief Buckles will be retained on the pay roll as a substitute, although he will be reduced from office. The proposition of a new head of the department will also probably be taken up, but it has not been decided whether a chief, captain or lieutenant will be appointed. The appointment is governed by the civil service examination which will soon be concluded.

CENTRAL HIGH FIVE LOSES IN ROUGH GAME TO COLUMBUS TEAM

The Central High basketball team met defeat at the hands of Columbus West High at the rink last night by a score of 29 to 15.

The game was devoid of good basketball and uninteresting. Neither team showed much in the way of team play and the fray was slow. The refereeing was lax and taking advantage of this both teams threw their basketball knowledge aside and engaged in a rough and tumble contest. The local team secured the lead first when Bales tossed one in from the foul line but West counted one

HEALTH OFFICER EXPLAINS THE GRISWOLD BILL

BOARD WILL CONTINUE TO FUNCTION OUTSIDE OF XENIA

Dr. R. H. Grube, city health officer, today gave the following explanation of the Griswold amendment to the Hughes health law, as it applies to Xenia and Greene county.

According to this amendment the present county health board residing outside of the city of Xenia will continue to function, as provided in the original Hughes act. They will at once proceed to fill the vacancies created by the automatic dropping of the Xenia members and proceed with their organization as provided in the Hughes bill.

Xenia city will continue its present health organization as provided in its city charter. Or, the present advisory health council of representatives of the townships and villages of the county outside of the city of Xenia may meet and by a majority vote ask for a merger with the city of Xenia, into a county unit.

If the city commission of Xenia by a like vote concurs in the request for a union then a contract shall be entered into apportioning the cost of maintenance between the city and the other civic units of the county. Then the health organization of the city of Xenia will administer the health affairs of the combined district, under the provisions of the original Hughes health law.

Both of them are well known society young people. Mrs. Caliman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hilliard, and is very prominent in lodge work throughout the state, at the present time being Grand Matron of the Court of Calanthe and Grand Secretary of the Eastern Star Chapter.

Miss Mary Francis Relaford of Mulberry street, has been very ill, but is much improved at present. The soldier boys at Washington hospital wish to express their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts for their kindness and hospitality to them during the holidays and to all others who have in any way contributed to their comfort and pleasure since they have been here.

My wife was weak, pale, nervous, constipated no appetite and was nervous, couldn't eat and seemed to be worried all the time. As for me—I was bilious, had dizzy spells and headaches. Would Have Changed History. One would have said that the most momentous event of 1788 was the fall of the Bastille. Yet, on a summer day of the same year a young artillery officer, bathing in the Seine river, was seized with cramps and nearly drowned. If he had drowned, Napoleon Bonaparte would never have added a single line to the history of Europe.

Surely a Great Man. Henry had just started to school and was filled with the patriotic spirit of the times, as well as kindergarten wisdom. "Was Francis Scott Key a great man?" he asked one day of the folks at home. "I think he was, why?" "Cause I think a fellow that writes a song what everyone has to stand up to, must be a great man."

HE FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN. Rheumatic pains, backache, pains in sides, sore muscles, stiff joints or an "always tired" feeling are usually symptoms of disordered kidneys. W. W. Wells, Toquim, Mich., writes: "I am on my feet most of the time and get tired. But after taking Foley Kidney Pills I feel like a new man." Prompt in action.

FINAL CHAPTER IN FIRE CHIEF CASE WRITTEN

CITY COMMISSION WILL ACT ON MATTER THURSDAY AT MEETING.

The final settlement of the now famous Buckles case, in which City Manager Riddle filed ouster charges against Fire Chief William Buckles, will be made Thursday, January 8.

At that time the commission will take up an entire reorganization plan for the fire department, and will probably pass an ordinance defining the duties of the different members of the department which will embody a clause providing for substitute firemen including Chief Buckles, who will be put on as a substitute as a salary of $40 a month.

This is the amount that is allowed retired firemen in practically all cities as a pension. The commission will take up the proposition of providing a pension for retired police and firemen also at this meeting.

Such a proposition must be put to a vote of the people before it is put into effect, the voters electing to either establish or not establish a levy to provide for such a fund.

Until such a time as a pension is provided Chief Buckles will be retained on the pay roll as a substitute, although he will be reduced from off the department of a new head of the department will also probably be taken up, but it has not been decided whether a chief, captain or lieutenant will be appointed. The appointment is governed by the civil service examination which will soon be concluded.

CENTRAL HIGH FIVE LOSES IN ROUGH GAME TO COLUMBUS TEAM

The Central High basketball team met defeat at the hands of Columbus West High at the rink last night by a score of 29 to 15.

The game was devoid of good basketball and uninteresting. Neither team showed much in the way of team play and the fray was slow. The refereeing was lax and taking advantage of this both teams threw their basketball knowledge aside and engaged in a rough and tumble contest. The local team secured the lead first when Bales tossed one in from the foul line but West counted one from the field and took the lead which they held all through the game. The first half ended with the score 14 to 8. The play in the second half was not any better and was about on the same scale.

The blue and white team showed the loss of practice sustained by the holiday vacation and this was greatly responsible for their defeat. Tylors absence also handicapped them.

West High made a very poor impression on the fans here as they failed to display any team work that could be expected from a team of their reputed calibre.

The lineup:
Xenia 15
Riddell 15
Bales 15
Pillsbury 15
Krause 15
Palmer 15
Kurtz 15
Boxwell 15
Referee—Creswell, Timer—G. Van-norsdall. Scorer—Hyman. Field goals: Riddell 2, Bales, Magley 2, Krause 3, Palmer 5, Kurtz 3. Foul goals: Riddell 9 out of 2, Bales 5 of 9, Boxwell 4 of 6, Magley 3.

TWO MONTHS OLD INFANT PASSES AWAY

Agnes Marie Jack, two months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jack, of Nicholas avenue, died at 5:30 Friday evening from whooping cough. The baby had been ill for several days.

Besides the parents, there are three brothers and four sisters surviving. Owing to the fact that others of the children are also ill from whooping cough, the funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Emma Jack, 791 South Detroit street Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock and burial will be made in Woodland.

NEW JASPER

Mr. and Mrs. Grant St. John entertained a number of friends at a watch party New Year's eve.

Rev. Robinson has been conducting revival services at Mt. Tabor M. E. church.

Messrs. Omer Shirk and J. W. Le Valley will leave Monday for a Western trip, enroute they will visit John Le Valley at Monette, Ark., and P. R. Le Valley at Marysville, Okla.

The schools of the township opened Monday after a week and a half holidays.

Mrs. Rowe has been the guest of her son, Okie Rowe and family of Dayton.

Mr. Robert Chaney and family are moving to a farm near Paintersville. Mr. John Shirk, census enumerator of New Jasper township, started on his duties Friday.

NEW DINNER GOWN OF NOVEL DESIGN

This very unusual dinner gown of black satin has a certain dignity and charm along with a smart air which makes it particularly suitable for the young matron. Black satin forms the skirt and blouse and both are heavily embroidered in vivid blue and gold shades. Blue tulle is gathered and fastened at the hips and let fall to form a short train.

XENIA OIL COMPANY INCORPORATES FOR CAPITAL OF $50,000

The Xenia Oil Company, which has been operating as a company here for a year, was incorporated Friday with a capital stock of $50,000.

The incorporators are Walter S. Davis and Chester E. Owen, who have had the direct management of the local company. R. W. Moore of this city, Albert Gregory, who recently came here from Newcastle, Ind., to be associated with the corporation, and Homer C. Corry of Springfield.

The officers of the corporation have not yet been selected, but Mr. Owens and Mr. Davis will continue the management of the company.

The incorporation of the local concern is the criterion of an enlargement plan which will be undertaken by the Xenia Oil Company.

The company itself was organized about a year ago and has been operating a successful business here, maintaining oil yards, a delivery service and filling stations.

The plan of enlargement for the corporation includes a spreading of towns, according to W. S. Davis, the business to other cities, and who will likely head the incorporation.

Qualities of Precious Stones.

Opals are in certain respects altogether peculiar among gem stones. Whereas other gems, such as the ruby, the emerald, and the sapphire, owe their colors to mineral elements by which the crystals are stained, the brilliant tints of the opal are due to its structure, ever so many minute cracks reflecting lights at different angles from their edges. An amethyst is quartz crystal of another variety, containing from 5 to 13 per cent of water.

Would Have Changed History.

One would have said that the most momentous event of 1788 was the fall of the Bastille. Yet, on a summer day of the same year a young artillery officer, bathing in the Saone river, was seized with cramps and nearly drowned. If he had drowned, Napoleon on Bonaparte would never have added a single line to the history of Europe.

HEALTH OFFICER EXPLAINS THE GRISWOLD BILL

BOARD WILL CONTINUE TO FUNCTION OUTSIDE OF XENIA

Dr. R. H. Grube, city health officer, today gave the following explanation of the Griswold amendment to the Hughes health law, as it applies to Xenia and Greene county.

According to this amendment the present county health board residing outside of the city of Xenia will continue to function, as provided in the original Hughes act. They will at once proceed to fill the vacancies created by the automatic dropping of the Xenia members and proceed with their organization as provided in the Hughes bill.

Xenia city will continue its present health organization as provided in its city charter. Or, the present advisory health council of representatives of the townships and villages of the county outside of the city of Xenia may meet and by a majority vote ask for a merger with the city of Xenia, into a county unit. If the city commission of Xenia by a like vote concurs in the request for a union then a contract shall be entered into apportioning the cost of maintenance between the city and the other civic units of the county. Then the health organization of the city of Xenia will administer the health affairs of the combined district, under the provisions of the original Hughes health law.

EAST END NEWS

Miss Ella Hilliard of East Main street and Mr. Clarence Caliman, instructor in mechanical training at Wilberforce, stole a march on their friends and went to Parkersburg, W. Va., and were married last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seamy.

The news of the marriage reached Xenia before their arrival, and when they arrived intending to keep their secret, they were met with congratulations.

Both of them are well known society young people. Mrs. Caliman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hilliard, and is very prominent in lodge work throughout the state, at the present time being Grand Matron of the Court of Calanthe and Grand Secretary of the Eastern Star Chapter.

Miss Mary Francis Relaford of Mulberry street, has been very ill, but is much improved at present.

The soldier boys at Washington hospital wish to express their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts for their kindness and hospitality to them during the holidays and to all others who have in any way contributed to their comfort and pleasure since they have been here.

Business of Criticism.

Its business is simply to know the best that is known and thought in the world, and, by in its turn making this known, to create a current of true and fresh ideas. Its business is to do this with inflexible honesty, with due ability; but its business is to do no more, and to leave alone all questions of practical consequences and applications—questions which will never fall to have due prominence given to them.—Matthew Arnold.

IT'S GREAT TO EAT BIG HEARTY MEALS WITHOUT PAINS

Dreco wrought wonderful change in this Dayton home. Father, Mother and Son praise the great medicine.

Dyspepsia, gastritis, nervousness, constipation, liver, kidney and stomach trouble had cast a gloom over them all.

"I am convinced that my wife, son and myself would have been in serious difficulties by now, had it not been for the prompt and complete relief we got from Dreco," said Mr. E. S. Hanby of 143 Fairground Ave., Dayton, O., in a signed statement.

"Three weeks ago my household was burdened by stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles. My son had laid off from work for a long time from stomach trouble, gastritis and acute indigestion. My wife was weak, pale, nervous, constipated no appetite and was nervous, couldn't eat and seemed to be worried all the time. As for me I was bilious, had dizzy spells and headaches. The Dreco bottle sits on the sideboard and all of us take out of it and that is why such a change has come over our home. Dreco has made life worth living. My son is back at work; my wife is in good cheer the whole day long and I feel full of energy all the time. All of us sit up to the table, eat hearty and have no fear of the results. Every one of us sing the praises of Dreco, and I'd almost rather be without food in the house than to be without Dreco on the vital organs in a stomach disorders, gastritis, constipation, weak kidneys, lazy liver to get Dreco—it will do the work."

Dreco acts on the vital organs in a prompt and pleasing manner; relief is quick and results permanent.

Dreco is sold by all progressive druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Xenia by Sohn's Drug Store.

Surely a Great Man. Henry had just started to school and was filled with the patriotic spirit of the times, as well as kindergarten wisdom. "Was Francis Scott Key a great man?" he asked one day of the folks at home. "I think he was, why?" "Cause I think a fellow that writes a song what everyone has to stand up to, must be a great man."

Rheumatic pains, backache, pains in sides, sore muscles, stiff joints or an "always tired" feeling are usually symptoms of disordered kidneys. W. W. ## WE HAVE COME AGAIN TO THE PRESIDENT MAKING YEAR

"My country, 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty of thee I sing." Amid the turmoil of nations, how thankful we should be that our lot has been cast in this Land of Liberty. We have our troubles, but amidst them we are ever thankful that our's are not as bad as many others, and we never want to exchange. We are a blessed nation, and our hearts should swell with gratitude to God for all that our country means to us. When we get to grumbling, we are often told to count our blessings. Ah, who can count the blessings alone that our glorious country means to us. We should daily thank God for it.

Take for instance, our sublime system of self-government, to no tyrant ruler do we bow. If there ever was any doubt that this might prove a mistake—that sometime an unworthy person might be made President—time has shown this impossible. The common sense of an enlightened people would never permit it. We have had a galaxy of the noblest of men as our rulers for a century and a third.

And now, by the whirligig of time, we have come around, for the 33rd time, to the year when we are to elect a President to rule over us for four years. The shadow of this important event has been forecasting for a year past. It is always a momentous event, and this year seems to be more so than ever, because of the great world war through which we have just passed, and some of the aftermath of same.

Of the two principal political parties of the nation, the democratic and the republican, since the civil war, a period of about sixty years, the former has had but two Presidents, Cleveland and Wilson, while the republicans have had all the rest, Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

And this condition is the more remarkable when it is taken in account that the former Confederate States are solidly democratic the republicans thereof, the colored people, not being allowed to vote, or practically so. This, of course, gives the democracy the solid electoral votes of about a dozen states to start with. Of course the republicans have to face this shameful handicap at every Presidential election. A grievous hardship, an unjust condition, but so it is that we have to face it, to keep these our dear brethren in the ship of state. We are trying to write a non-partisan article, but you see how hard a job we have.

And next June, at Chicago, these two parties are to present for public consideration the names of two persons, one of whom will be President of the United States after March 4th, 1921. How queer it seems that no one in the world can today tell who this is going to be—some one today maybe comparatively unknown, who in so short a time from now will be ruler over the greatest nation on which the sun shines.

Some have said that it should not be the business of private men to meddle with politics, a saying worthy only of a slave. To say that private men should have nothing to do with government is to say that private men should have nothing to do with their own happiness or misery. The very foundation stone of our government is, as Mr. Lincoln so grandly said at Gettysburg, "government of the people, for the people, by the people."

The man who does not keep himself posted in the political events of his country is a back number—we might almost say illiterate, and surely no one wants to be considered in that class. So, to a certain extent, we are all politicians, and hence wide awake to our country's interests in this President making year of 1920.

"God bless our native land;
Firm may she ever stand,
Through storm and night;
When the wild tempests rave,
Ruler of the wind and wave,
Do thou our country save
By thy great might."

DEMOCRACY IN INDUSTRY.

In the steel industry, "capital," speaking through Chairman Gary, declared its sole judge of the controversy. In the coal strike, "labor," speaking through President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, declared itself sole judge.

It is clear that there can be no lasting improvement of industrial conditions until the attitude here revealed is eliminated on both sides. It is clear, too, that the public is getting very much out of patience with such an attitude, in any quarter.

It was a reactionary and a negative step on the part of the Steel Trust to refuse recognition to union labor. It was against the whole spirit of the time and against the plain trend of industrial evolution. Organization of workmen for collective bargaining is natural and inevitable.

The coal strike was a similar exhibition of reactionary autocracy on the part of workmen. In immediate effects it was more offensive than the autocratic action of the Steel Trust, but in the long run one is as destructive as the other.

The coal miners have probably learned their lesson from the almost universal criticism visited upon them. It may be that Judge Gary and his associates have not learned their lesson, because circumstances have made them seem the winners of the steel strike, and thus might appear to justify them. They should be made to realize that the failure of that strike was due not to the soundness of the employers' position, but merely to the fact that the employees struck at a critical time, without due consideration of the public welfare.

If there is to be an autocracy in industry, it must be the autocracy of the third party, the disinterested public, which bears the brunt of these wars. But even this great public, with rights superior to the rights of both the others, does not seek to play the autocrat. It wants to work out a fair plan of industrial work and pay in cooperation with the other two, giving each due consideration and merely reserving to itself the right to step in and decide the controversy—with a club, if necessary—when they cannot agree.

Secretary of War Baker and Sergeant Sandlin. Insert, Miss Jessie Dell.

Former Sergeant Willie Sandlin of Hyden, Ky., who was recently appointed by Secretary Baker as a special escort for the return of our soldiers from overseas, has just left for France. He was accompanied by Miss Jessie Dell, who will take charge of the office to which families of missing soldiers can go to get information regarding their dead. Sandlin was appointed because of his unusual record in the war. He is said to rank second only to Sergeant York in his exploits against the enemy.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED—AND EARNED

By Jane Phelps.

A Modern Story of Home and Business.

Jerry Refuses to be Jealous.

Chapter 17.

We played cards, bridge, until about 11 o'clock. As we pivoted no one played with any one partner for very long. But I noticed that when ever Marion Hovey and Robert played together they talked and reminisced constantly. I hadn't seen Robert so gay in a long time. I recalled, too, how he whistled while we were getting dressed, and how happy we had appeared.

I had to agree with them all as to the salad. I think I never had tasted better mayonnaise. I praised it unreservedly, which seemed to please Robert out of all proportion to the cause. Then when we were leaving, he astonished me by saying:

"We shall expect you all at our swell hotel a week from tonight. Can you come, Marion? You, too, Tate?"

"Indeed, I will come," Marion spoke up quickly, and all the rest also accepted. Marion and Mr. Tate went in the same direction as Robert and I, so we two girls walked on ahead while Robert and Mr. Tate followed.

"I think you must be terribly clever," Marion said.

"In what way?"

"Why, to be married and keep right on with your work. I don't think many women can do it."

"Oh, Jane tried it for a while, but poor Carson was so miserable and made such a fuss that she had to give it up. I guess men, most of them, like their women folks at home. My father and brothers have a fit if they come home and find me out. But Robert is so easy-going, so good-natured that he'd not object if he thought you were pleased. He was always like that in everything."

"You and he were good friends."

"Regular pals! He used to come to the house a lot. I hope you will come now, both of you."

Robert called to us just then, saying me a reply. We separated soon with the usual formalities.

"Isn't Marion a peach?" Robert asked. Then without waiting: "She's the daintiest little housekeeper, Gerry. Runs that house like clock work. Hasn't much money to do it with, either. Her father doesn't earn much and the boys are too young—both of them in school. She's a born cook, too. I have had some great feasts at her house."

"It seems to me, Robert, that you think a great deal of what you eat, I never knew you were so keen about food."

"I don't think I really am, Gerry. Only I have boarded so long that home food seems to represent a home to cook and eat in. I guess it is that more than the food itself."

"We'll have a home one of these days when we can afford it."

As often, when I made such a remark, Robert started to say something then caught himself. I can't explain why, but I never asked him what he was going to say, when he broke off like that, as would have been only natural. And I went on:

"You see we will save enough to have things real nice. Then we can entertain and do things right."

During the days following our evening at the Murphys', I often thought of Marion Hovey. Had Robert been just a bit in love with her, I wondered. He had said they were only good pals, but his face had lighted up when he greeted her, she had seemed so delighted to see him, that had I been of a jealous disposition I think the

COUGHED NIGHT AND DAY FOR TWO YEARS

Mr. Parkhurst found quick relief from chronic bronchial trouble.

"Two years ago, I had a gripe which left me with a bad cough. Finally this became chronic bronchial asthma, and four doctors said it could not be cured. I commenced taking everything my friends recommended, but I got worse instead of better. For two years, I was unable to do any work except to cough constantly night and day, which was the hardest work I ever did."

"Finally I got hold of Milks Emulsion. It benefited me so much, right from the start, that it came as a God-send. In two months I was perfectly cured. I gained in health, strength and flesh rapidly."—J. M. Parkhurst, Leon St., W. Terre Haute, Ind.

Coughs like this seldom yield to local treatments. The surest way to reach them is to build up and strengthen the whole system. For any obstinate cough, Milks Emulsion is a remarkable remedy.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

thought of their pleasure in each other might have made me a bit unhappy. But I was not jealous. It would take a great deal to make me so—to make me doubt Robert. I did not realize at were my jealousy awakened it could be far more intense than had it been easily aroused.

Robert had not told me that Jane Murphy went on teaching after she had married. I must ask him about it. I wondered why she had given it up. They had a nice little apartment of four rooms, but everything was very simple, the furniture, her table appointments, everything showed the need of economy. She was very bright and must have earned a fair salary. How foolish to give up until they could live in a more refined neighborhood, and have a little better apartment.

With Betty it was different. Frank Weed married more than either, Carson or Robert. He was a little older too, and had saved enough so that they had furnished nicely, and lived very well indeed. In a better neighborhood too—one thing I considered absolutely essential. Our boarding house was in really aristocratic portion of town, a fact which made me overlook many things, not as agreeable as they might have been.

WE HAVE COME AGAIN TO THE PRESIDENT MAKING YEAR

"My country, 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty of thee I sing." Amid the turmoil of nations, how thankful we should be that our lot has been cast in this Land of Liberty. We have our troubles, but amidst them we are ever thankful that our's are not as bad as many others, and we never want to exchange. We are a blessed nation, and our hearts should swell with gratitude to God for all that our country means to us. When we get to grumbling, we are often told to count our blessings. Ah, who can count the blessings alone that our glorious country means to us. We should daily thank God for it.

Take for instance, our sublime system of self-government, to no tyrant ruler do we bow. If there ever was any doubt that this might prove a mistake—that sometime an unworthy person might be made President—time has shown this impossible. The common sense of an enlightened people would never permit it. We have had a galaxy of the noblest of men as our rulers for a century and a third.

And now, by the whirligig of time, we have come around, for the 33rd time, to the year when we are to elect a President to rule over us for four years. The shadow of this important event has been forecasting for a year past. It is always a momentous event, and this year seems to be more so than ever, because of the great world war through which we have just passed, and some of the aftermath of same.

Of the two principal political parties of the nation, the democratic and the republican, since the civil war, a period of about sixty years, the former has had but two Presidents, Cleveland and Wilson, while the republicans have had all the rest, Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

And this condition is the more remarkable when it is taken in account that the former Confederate States are solidly democratic, the republicans thereof, the colored people, not being allowed to vote, or practically so. This, of course, gives the democracy the solid electoral votes of about a dozen states to start with. Of course the republicans have to face this shameful handicap at every Presidential election. A grievous hardship, an unjust condition, but so it is that we have to face it, to keep these our dear brethren in the ship of state. We are trying to write a non-partisan article, but you see how hard a job we have.

And next June, at Chicago, these two parties are to present for public consideration the names of two persons, one of whom will be President of the United States after March 4th, 1921. How queer it seems that no one in the world can today tell who this is going to be—some one today maybe comparatively unknown, who in so short a time from now will be ruler over the greatest nation on which the sun shines.

Some have said that it should not be the business of private men to meddle with politics, a saying worthy only of a slave. To say that private men should have nothing to do with government is to say that private men should have nothing to do with their own happiness or misery. The very foundation stone of our government is, as Mr. Lincoln so grandly said at Gettysburg, "government of the people, for the people, by the people."

The man who does not keep himself posted in the political events of his country is a back number—we might almost say illiterate, and surely no one wants to be considered in that class. So, to a certain extent, we are all politicians, and hence wide awake to our country's interests in this President making year of 1920.

"God bless our native land;
Firm may she ever stand,
Through storm and night;
When the wild tempests rave,
Ruler of the wind and wave,
Do thou our country save
By thy great might."

DEMOCRACY IN INDUSTRY.

In the steel industry, "capital," speaking through Chairman Gary, declared its sole judge of the controversy. In the coal strike, "labor," speaking through President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, declared itself sole judge.

It is clear that there can be no lasting improvement of industrial conditions until the attitude here revealed is eliminated on both sides. It is clear, too, that the public is getting very much out of patience with such an attitude, in any quarter.

It was a reactionary and a negative step on the part of the Steel Trust to refuse recognition to union labor. It was against the whole spirit of the time and against the plain trend of industrial evolution. Organization of workmen for collective bargaining is natural and inevitable.

The coal strike was a similar exhibition of reactionary autocracy on the part of workmen. In immediate effects it was more offensive than the autocratic action of the Steel Trust, but in the long run one is as destructive as the other.

The coal miners have probably learned their lesson from the almost universal criticism visited upon them. It may be that Judge Gary and his associates have not learned their lesson, because circumstances have made them seem the winners of the steel strike, and thus might appear to justify them. They should be made to realize that the failure of that strike was due not to the soundness of the employers' position, but merely to the fact that the employees struck at a critical time, without due consideration of the public welfare.

If there is to be an autocracy in industry, it must be the autocracy of the third party, the disinterested public, which bears the brunt of these wars. But even this great public, with rights superior to the rights of both the others, does not seek to play the autocrat. It wants to work out a fair plan of industrial work and pay in cooperation with the other two, giving each due consideration and merely reserving to itself the right to step in and decide the controversy—with a club, if necessary—when they cannot agree.

WAR HERO AND WOMAN NAMED BY BAKER TO BRING SOLDIER DEAD FROM FRANCE

Secretary of War Baker and Sergeant Sandlin. Insert, Miss Jessie Dell.

Former Sergeant Willie Sandlin of Hyden, Ky., who was recently appointed by Secretary Baker as a special escort for the return of our soldier dead from overseas, has just left for France. He was accompanied by Miss Jessie Dell, who will take charge of the office to which families of missing soldiers can go to get information regarding their dead. Sandlin is appointed because of his unusual record in the war. He is said to rank second only to Sergeant York in his exploits against the enemy.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED--AND EARNED

By Jane Phelps.

A Modern Story of Home and Business.

Jerry Refuses to be Jealous.

Chapter 17.

We played cards, bridge, until about 11 o'clock. As we pivoted no one played with any one partner for very long. But I noticed that when ever Marion Hovey and Robert played together they talked and reminisced constantly. I hadn't seen Robert so gay in a long time. I recalled, too, how he whistled while we were getting dressed, and how happy we had appeared.

I had to agree with them all as to the salad. I think I never had tasted better mayonnaise. I praised it unreservedly, which seemed to please Robert out of all proportion to the cause. Then when we were leaving, he astonished me by saying:

"We shall expect you all at our swell hotel a week from tonight. Can you come, Marion? You, too, Tate?"

"Indeed, I will come," Marion spoke up quickly, and all the rest also accepted. Marion and Mr. Tate went in the same direction as Robert and I, so we two girls walked on ahead while Robert and Mr. Tate followed.

"I think you must be terribly clever," Marion said.

"To what way?"

"Why, to be married and keep right on with your work. I don't think many women can do it."

"I don't see why."

"Oh, Jane tried it for a while, but poor Carson was so miserable and made such a fuss that she had to give it up. I guess men, most of them, like their women folks at home. My father and brothers have a fit if they come home and find me out. But Robert is so easy-going, so good-natured that he'd not object if he thought you were pleased. He was always like that in everything."

"You and he were good friends."

"Regular pals! He used to come to the house a lot. I hope you will come now, both of you."

Robert called to us just then, saying me a reply. We separated soon with the usual formalities.

"Isn't Marion a peach?" Robert asked. Then without waiting: "She's the daintiest little housekeeper, Gerry. Runs that house like clock work. Hasn't much money to do it with, either. Her father doesn't earn much and the boys are too young—both of them in school. She's a born cook, too. I have had some great feasts at her house."

"It seems to me, Robert, that you think a great deal of what you eat, I never knew you were so keen about food."

"I don't think I really am, Gerry. Only I have bounded so long that home food seems to represent a home to cook and eat it in. I guess it is that more than the food itself."

"We'll have a home one of these days when we can afford it."

As often, when I made such a remark, Robert started to say something then caught himself. I can't explain why, but I never asked him what he was going to say, when he broke off like that, as would have been only natural. And I went on:

"You see we will save enough to have things real nice. Then we can entertain and do things right."

During the days following our evening at the Murphys, I often thought of Marion Hovey. Had Robert been just a bit in love with her, I wondered. He had said they were only good pals, but his face had lighted up when he greeted her, she had seemed so delighted to see him, that had I been of a jealous disposition I think the thought of their pleasure in each other might have made me a bit unhappy. But I was not jealous. It would take a great deal to make me so—to make me doubt Robert. I did not realize at were my jealousy awakened it would be far more intense than had it been easily aroused.

Robert had not told me that Jane Murphy went on teaching after she had married. I must ask him about it. I wondered why she had given it up. They had a nice little apartment of four rooms, but everything was very simple, the furniture, her table appointments, everything showed the need of economy. She was very bright and must have earned a fair salary. How foolish to give up until they could live in a more refined neighborhood, and have a little better apartment.

With Betty it was different. Frank Weed earned more than either, Carson or Robert. He was a little older too, and had saved enough so that they had furnished nicely, and lived very well indeed. In a better neighborhood too—one thing I considered absolutely essential. Our boarding house was in really aristocratic portion of town, a fact which made me overlook many things, not as agreeable as they might have been.

SALE OF SACRED BULL TO TEXAN SAID TO HAVE CAUSED INDIAN PRIEST'S DOWNFALL

"Three Circle," the sacred bull.

"Three Circle," said to be the only sacred bull in the U. S. that was once in an Indian temple, is now on the Crescent V. ranch, Palacios, Texas. The animal was imported by Mr. Porden, a cattle man, at a reported cost of $75,000. It is said that an Indian priest was deposed as the result of selling the bull. Lock has turned down fabulous offers from showmen for the bull, it is said.

JEWISH RELIEF CAMPAIGN WILL BEGIN IN XENIA

JOHN W. PRUGH HEADS COMMITTEE IN CHARGE OF LOCAL DRIVE

John W. Prugh will head the Greene County American Jewish Relief Campaign which has been inaugurated here to raise this county's share in the $35,000,000 goal set for the purpose of extending relief to the war stricken people of Central and Eastern Europe.

L. Steinfeld will act as vice-chairman for the campaign, while C. L. Babb will be treasurer and B. Schlesinger secretary of the local committee. An organization to carry on the work throughout the county will be effected immediately and the drive will be pushed rapidly.

The local committee was organized by Mrs. Harry Steinberger, special lecturer and organizer for the organization committee of the council of National Defense for Hamilton County, Chairman of the Industrial Welfare Committee of the Women's City Club and during the war held a government appointment for all government educational propaganda for women and children in industries, addressing business men and women throughout the war.

HOMEMADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and put it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled. Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

LOCAL BOARDS OF EDUCATION WILL RE-ORGANIZE SOON

Local Boards of Education all over Greene County will reorganize next Monday, by electing a president and a clerk for the coming year.

This re-organization is important and far-reaching, because the president of said local boards, by virtue of their office, are legal delegates to elect a member of the Greene County Board of Education at a meeting to take place in Xenia, Saturday, January 17, 1929.

The selection of a county board member is important to the county schools, as it is this board that will elect a county superintendent of schools within the next six months.

The presidents of some of these boards also elect a district superintendent of schools in the near future.

This responsibility of the president involves not only the harmonious relations of the rural schools, but the future welfare of the boys and girls of the entire county.

MUTT AND JEFF AT OPERA HOUSE MONDAY

After seven seasons of veritable triumph Gus Hill comes back for the ninth season with his perennial success "Mutt and Jeff" in an entire new dress, entitled "Mutt and Jeff's Dream," which will be presented at the Opera House under the management of C. L. McClellan Monday evening.

When Bud Fisher conceived a long guy and short one for his comic strip, he created the greatest and most durable success in the cartoon world. The new production is as lively and original as the famous comics, containing dashes of melodrama, side-splitting farce and musical comedy. There are thirty people in the cast of the production, with a chorus of twenty well costumed girls.

Would Be a Joke.

John had been the only child in the family for five years, when one day a little baby sister came. Several weeks later the parents were talking about the little baby, saying how sweet she was and how glad they were to have a little girl. John, listening, said: "Oh, mother, wouldn't it be a good joke on you if sister turned out to be a boy?"

Elbert L. Babb, chairman of the forum committee of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged for Mrs.

Steinberger to address that organization in the interests of the drive, at the noon luncheon next Wednesday at which time she will return to this city.

"The American Jewish Relief Campaign is absolutely non-sectarian, and is being assisted by the patriotic people of all denominations all over the country," explained Mrs. Steinberger. "The campaign to aid the helpless and war stricken people of Europe is being conducted through the Jewish Relief committee because of the excellent work that organization did during the war and because it is organized and prepared to handle the undertaking."

"No worthier movement has yet presented itself to the charitable hearts of the American people than that which inspires the fund which is being raised through the Jewish organization. The goal of $35,000,000 is one-fifth of the amount raised for United war work and every dollar goes to relief. All the money will be spent in this country, and will be sent over seas in the form of clothing, supplies and provisions. All of the money subscribed will go to relief as the campaign expenses are being paid for privately," she said.

Governor James M. Cox has issued a proclamation asking that everyone aid in the work, and he personally contributed $1,000 to the Dayton campaign. Herbert Hoover has given the movement his backing, urging that money be raised as quickly as possible in order that children across the sea might live and H. P. Davidson, chairman of the War Board of the American Red Cross, who has just returned from overseas, says that the need is greater than during the war.

Mrs. Steinberger has called upon the aid of the ministers and churches throughout the country, and Rev. Albert Read, president of the Ministerial Association, at the request of Mrs. Steinberger has called a meeting of all ministers of Greene county, and the professors at the Xenia Theological Seminary to be held in the study of the First United Presbyterian church, Monday morning at ten o'clock, for the purpose of taking up the movement.

Subscriptions to the fund will be received at once and any information concerning the campaign, which will get under way at once, will be obtained from the officers named.

MILK DEALERS GET VENDERS LICENSES

All Xenia milk dealers have secured their licenses to sell milk and have their certificates, according to Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Officer.

The new city law governing the licensing and certification of the milk of all dealers as prepared and proposed by Dr. Grube went into effect the first of the year, and all of the local distributors qualified by paying their license fee and securing their certificate to operate.

Investigation and examination of the product being delivered by milk dealers is next step in the better milk program, according to Dr. Grube, and soon the city will have all milk sold here under surveillance. Milk that does not pass the city's tests can not be distributed when the entire power of the law is put in effect.

Only Shakespeare was endowed with that healthy equilibrium of nature whose range was elliptical, dominating all zones of human thought and action—that power of verisimilar conception which could take away Richard III from history, and Ulysses from Homer—and that creative faculty whose equal touch is alike vivifying in Shallow and Leary.—Lowell.

LOCAL BOARDS OF EDUCATION WILL RE-ORGANIZE SOON

Local Boards of Education all over Greene County will reorganize next Monday, by electing a president and a clerk for the coming year.

This re-organization is important and far-reaching, because the president of said local boards, by virtue of their office, are legal delegates to elect a member of the Greene County Board of Education at a meeting to take place in Xenia, Saturday, January 17, 1933.

The selection of a county board member is important to the county schools, as it is this board that will elect a county superintendent of schools within the next six months.

The presidents of some of these boards also elect a district superintendent of schools in the near future.

This responsibility of the president involves not only the harmonious relations of the rural schools, but the future welfare of the boys and girls of the entire county.

MUTT AND JEFF AT OPERA HOUSE MONDAY

After seven seasons of veritable triumph Gus Hill comes back for the ninth season with his perennial success "Mutt and Jeff," in an entire new dress, entitled "Mutt and Jeff's Dream," which will be presented at the Opera House under the management of C. L. McClellan Monday evening.

When Bud Fisher conceived a long guy and short one for his comic strip, he created the greatest and most durable success in the cartoon world. The new production is as lively and original as the famous comics, containing dashes of melodrama, side-splitting farce and musical comedy. There are thirty people in the cast of the production, with a chorus of twenty well costumed girls.

Would Be a Joke.

John had been the only child in the family for five years, when one day a little baby sister came. Several weeks later the parents were talking about the little baby, saying how sweet she was and how glad they were to have a little girl. John, listening, said: "Oh, mother, wouldn't it be a good joke on you if sister turned out to be a boy?"

HOMEMADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you. Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

WE HAVE COME AGAIN TO THE PRESIDENT MAKING YEAR

"My country, 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty of thee I sing." Amid the turmoil of nations, how thankful we should be that our lot has been cast in this Land of Liberty. We have our troubles, but amidst them we are ever thankful that our's are not as bad as many others, and we never want to exchange. We are a blessed nation, and our hearts should swell with gratitude to God for all that our country means to us. When we get to grumbling, we are often told to count our blessings. Ah, who can count the blessings alone that our glorious country means to us. We should daily thank God for it.

Take for instance, our sublime system of self-government, to no tyrant ruler do we bow. If there ever was any doubt that this might prove a mistake—that sometime an unworthy person might be made President—time has shown this impossible. The common sense of an enlightened people would never permit it. We have had a galaxy of the noblest of men as our rulers for a century and a third.

And now, by the whirligig of time, we have come around, for the 33rd time, to the year when we are to elect a President to rule over us for four years. The shadow of this important event has been forecasting for a year past. It is always a momentous event, and this year seems to be more so than ever, because of the great world war through which we have just passed, and some of the aftermath of same.

Of the two principal political parties of the nation, the democratic and the republican, since the civil war, a period of about sixty years, the former has had but two Presidents, Cleveland and Wilson, while the republicans have had all the rest, Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

And this condition is the more remarkable when it is taken in account that the former Confederate States are solidly democratic the republicans thereof, the colored people, not being allowed to vote, or practically so. This, of course, gives the democracy the solid electoral votes of about a dozen states to start with. Of course the republicans have to face this shameful handicap at every Presidential election. A grievous hardship, an unjust condition, but so it is that we have to face it, to keep these our dear brethren in the ship of state. We are trying to write a non-partisan article, but you see how hard a job we have.

And next June, at Chicago, these two parties are to present for public consideration the names of two persons, one of whom will be President of the United States after March 4th, 1921. How queer it seems that no one in the world can today tell who this is going to be—some one today maybe comparatively unknown, who in so short a time from now will be ruler over the greatest nation on which the sun shines.

Some have said that it should not be the business of private men to meddle with politics, a saying worthy only of a slave. To say that private men should have nothing to do with government is to say that private men should have nothing to do with their own happiness or misery. The very foundation stone of our government is, as Mr. Lincoln so grandly said at Gettysburg, "government of the people, for the people, by the people."

The man who does not keep himself posted in the political events of his country is a back number—we might almost say illiterate, and surely no one wants to be considered in that class. So, to a certain extent, we are all politicians, and hence wide awake to our country's interests in this President making year of 1920.

"God bless our native land;
Firm may she ever stand,
Through storm and night;
When the wild tempests rave,
Ruler of the wind and wave,
Do thou our country save
By thy great might."

DEMOCRACY IN INDUSTRY.

In the steel industry, "capital," speaking through Chairman Gary, declared its sole judge of the controversy. In the coal strike, "labor," speaking through President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, declared itself sole judge.

It is clear that there can be no lasting improvement of industrial conditions until the attitude here revealed is eliminated on both sides. It is clear, too, that the public is getting very much out of patience with such an attitude, in any quarter.

It was a reactionary and a negative step on the part of the Steel Trust to refuse recognition to union labor. It was against the whole spirit of the time and against the plain trend of industrial evolution. Organization of workmen for collective bargaining is natural and inevitable.

The coal strike was a similar exhibition of reactionary autocracy on the part of workmen. In immediate effects it was more offensive than the autocratic action of the Steel Trust, but in the long run one is as destructive as the other.

The coal miners have probably learned their lesson from the almost universal criticism visited upon them. It may be that Judge Gary and his associates have not learned their lesson, because circumstances have made them seem the winners of the steel strike, and thus might appear to justify them. They should be made to realize that the failure of that strike was due not to the soundness of the employers' position, but merely to the fact that the employees struck at a critical time, without due consideration of the public welfare.

If there is to be an autocracy in industry, it must be the autocracy of the third party, the disinterested public, which bears the brunt of these wars. But even this great public, with rights superior to the rights of both the others, does not seek to play the autocrat. It wants to work out a fair plan of industrial work and pay in cooperation with the other two, giving each due consideration and merely reserving to itself the right to step in and decide the controversy—with a club, if necessary—when they cannot agree.

WAR HERO AND WOMAN NAMED BY BAKER TO BRING SOLDIER DEAD FROM FRANCE

Secretary of War Baker and Sergeant Sandlin. Insert, Miss Jessie Dell.

Former Sergeant Willie Sandlin of Hyden, Ky., who was recently appointed by Secretary Baker as a special escort for the return of our soldier dead from overseas, has just left for France. He was accompanied by Miss Jessie Dell, who will take charge of the office to which families of missing soldiers can go to get information regarding their dead. Sandlin was appointed because of his unusual record in the war. He is said to rank second only to Sergeant York in his exploits against the enemy.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED--AND EARNED

By Jane Phelps.

A Modern Story of Home and Business.

Jerry Refuses to be Jealous. Chapter 17.

We played cards, bridge, until about 11 o'clock. As we pivoted no one played with any one partner for very long. But I noticed that when over Marion Hovey and Robert played together they talked and reminisced constantly. I hadn't seen Robert so gay in a long time. I recalled, too, how he whistled while we were getting dressed, and how happy we had appeared.

I had to agree with them all as to the salad. I think I never had tasted better mayonnaise. I praised it unstintedly, which seemed to please Robert out of all proportion to the cause. Then when we were leaving, he astonished me by saying:

"We shall expect you all at our swell hotel a week from tonight. Can you come, Marion? You, too, Tate?"

"Indeed, I will come," Marion spoke up quickly, and all the rest also accepted. Marion and Mr. Tate went in the same direction as Robert and I, so we two girls walked on ahead while Robert and Mr. Tate followed.

"I think you must be terribly clever," Marion said.

"To what way?"

"Why, to be married and keep right on with your work. I don't think many women can do it."

"I don't see why."

"Oh, Jane tried it for a while, but poor Carson was so miserable and made such a fuss that she had to give it up. I guess men, most of them, like their women folks at home. My father and brothers have a fit if they come home and find me out. But Robert is so easy-going, so good-natured that he'd not object if he thought you were pleased. He was always like that in everything."

"You and he were good friends."

"Regular pals! He used to come to the house a lot. I hope you will come now, both of you."

Robert called to us just then, saying me a reply. We separated soon with the usual formalities.

"Isn't Marion a peach?" Robert asked. Then without waiting: "She's the daintiest little housekeeper, Gerry. Runs that house like clock work. Hasn't much money to do it with, either. Her father doesn't earn much and the boys are too young—both of them in school. She's a born cook, too. I have had some great feasts at her house."

"It seems to me, Robert, that you think a great deal of what you eat. I never knew you were so keen about food."

"I don't think I really am, Gerry. Only I have boarded so long that home food seems to represent a home to cook and eat it in. I guess it is that more than the food itself."

"We'll have a home one of these days when we can afford it."

As often, when I made such a remark, Robert started to say something then caught himself. I can't explain why, but I never asked him what he was going to say, when he broke off like that, as would have been only natural. And I went on:

"You see we will save enough to have things real nice. Then we can entertain and do things right."

During the days following our evening at the Murphys, I often thought of Marion Hovey. Had Robert been just a bit in love with her, I wondered. He had said they were only good pals, but his face had lighted up when he greeted her, she had seemed so delighted to see him, that had I been of a jealous disposition I think the thought of their pleasure in each other might have made me a bit unhappy. But I was not jealous. It would take a great deal to make me so—to make me doubt Robert. I did not realize that were my jealousy awakened it could be far more intense than had it been easily aroused.

Robert had not told me that Jane Murphy went on teaching after she had married. I must ask him about it. I wondered why she had given it up. They had a nice little apartment of four rooms, but everything was very simple, the furniture, her table appointments, everything showed the need of economy. She was very bright and must have earned a fair salary. How foolish to give up until they could live in a more refined neighborhood, and have a little better apartment.

With Betty it was different. Frank Weed married more than either, Carson or Robert. He was a little older too, and had saved enough so that they had furnished nicely, and lived very well indeed. In a better neighborhood too—one thing I considered absolutely essential. Our boarding house was in really aristocratic portion of town, a fact which made me overlook many things, not as agreeable as they might have been.

COUGHED NIGHT AND DAY FOR TWO YEARS

Mr. Parkhurst found quick relief from chronic bronchial trouble.

"Two years ago, I had a gripe which left me with a bad cough. Finally this became chronic bronchial asthma, and four doctors said it could not be cured. I commenced taking everything my friends recommended, but I got worse instead of better. For two years, I was unable to do any work except to cough constantly night and day, which was the hardest work I ever did."

"Finally I got hold of Milks Emulsion. It benefited me so much, right from the start, that it came as a God-send. In two months I was perfectly cured. I gained in health, strength and flesh rapidly."—J. M. Parkhurst, Leon St., W. Terre Haute, Ind.

Coughs like this seldom yield to local treatments. The surest way to reach them is to build up and strengthen the whole system. For any obstinate cough, Milks Emulsion is a remarkable remedy.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quick assimilation of food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee:—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Guaranteed by Sayre and Hemphill.

And now, by the whirligig of time, we have come around, for the 33rd time, to the year when we are to elect a President to rule over us for four years. The shadow of this important event has been forecasting for a year past. It is always a momentous event, and this year seems to be more so than ever, because of the great world war through which we have just passed, and some of the aftermath of same.

Of the two principal political parties of the nation, the democratic and the republican, since the civil war, a period of about sixty years, the former has had two Presidents, Cleveland and Wilson, while the republicans have had all the rest, Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

And this condition is the more remarkable when it is taken in account that the former Confederate States are solidly democratic the republicans thereof, the colored people, not being allowed to vote, or practically so. This, of course, gives the democracy the solid electoral votes of about a dozen states to start with. Of course the republicans have to face this shameful handicap at every Presidential election. A grievous hardship, an unjust condition, but so it is that we have to face it, to keep these our dear brethren in the ship of state. We are trying to write a non-partisan article, but you see how hard a job we have.

And next June, at Chicago, these two parties are to present for public consideration the names of two persons, one of whom will be President of the United States after March 4th, 1921. How queer it seems that no one in the world can today tell who this is going to be—some one today maybe comparatively unknown, who in so short a time from now will be ruler over the greatest nation on which the sun shines.

Some have said that it should not be the business of private men to meddle with politics, a saying worthy only of a slave. To say that private men should have nothing to do with government is to say that private men should have nothing to do with their own happiness or misery. The very foundation stone of our government is, as Mr. Lincoln so grandly said at Gettysburg, "government of the people, for the people, by the people."

The man who does not keep himself posted in the political events of his country is a back number—we might almost say illiterate, and surely no one wants to be considered in that class. So, to a certain extent, we are all politicians, and hence wide awake to our country's interests in this President making year of 1920.

"God bless our native land;
Firm may she ever stand.
Through storm and night;
When the wild tempests rave,
Ruler of the wind and wave,
Do thou our country save
By thy great might."

DEMOCRACY IN INDUSTRY.

In the steel industry, "capital," speaking through Chairman Gary, declared its sole judge of the controversy. In the coal strike, "labor," speaking through President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, declared itself sole judge.

It is clear that there can be no lasting improvement of industrial conditions until the attitude here revealed is eliminated on both sides. It is clear, too, that the public is getting very much out of patience with such an attitude, in any quarter.

It was a reactionary and a negative step on the part of the Steel Trust to refuse recognition to union labor. It was against the whole spirit of the time and against the plain trend of industrial evolution. Organization of workmen for collective bargaining is natural and inevitable.

The coal strike was a similar exhibition of reactionary autocracy on the part of workmen. In immediate effects it was more offensive than the autocratic action of the Steel Trust, but in the long run one is as destructive as the other.

The coal miners have probably learned their lesson from the almost universal criticism visited upon them. It may be that Judge Gary and his associates have not learned their lesson, because circumstances have made them seem the winners of the steel strike, and thus might appear to justify them. They should be made to realize that the failure of that strike was due not to the soundness of the employers' position, but merely to the fact that the employees struck at a critical time, without due consideration of the public welfare.

If there is to be an autocracy in industry, it must be the autocracy of the third party, the disinterested public, which bears the brunt of these wars. But even this great public, with rights superior to the rights of both the others, does not seek to play the autocrat. It wants to work out a fair plan of industrial work and pay in cooperation with the other two, giving each due consideration and merely reserving to itself the right to step in and decide the controversy—with a club, if necessary—when they cannot agree.

WAR HERO AND WOMAN NAMED BY BAKER TO BRING SOLDIER DEAD FROM FRANCE

Secretary of War Baker and Sergeant Sandlin. Insert, Miss Jessie Dell.

Former Sergeant Willie Sandlin of Hyden, Ky., who was recently appointed by Secretary Baker as a special escort for the return of our soldier dead from overseas, has just left for France. He was accompanied by Miss Jessie Dell, who will take charge of the office to which families of missing soldiers can go to get information regarding their dead. Sandlin is appointed because of his unusual record in the war. He is said to rank second only to Sergeant York in his exploits against the enemy.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED--AND EARNED

By Jane Phelps.

A Modern Story of Home and Business.

Jerry Refuses to be Jealous.

Chapter 17.

We played cards, bridge, until about 11 o'clock. As we pivoted on one played with any one partner for very long. But I noticed that when ever Marion Hovey and Robert played together they talked and reminisced constantly. I hadn't seen Robert so gay in a long time. I recalled, too, how he whistled while we were getting dressed, and how happy we had appeared.

I had to agree with them all as to the salad. I think I never had tasted better mayonnaise. I praised it unreservedly, which seemed to please Robert out of all proportion to the cause. Then when we were leaving, he astonished me by saying:

"We shall expect you all at our swell hotel a week from tonight. Can you come, Marion? You, too, Tate?"

"Indeed, I will come," Marion spoke up quickly, and all the rest also accepted. Marion and Mr. Tate went in the same direction as Robert and I, so we two girls walked on ahead while Robert and Mr. Tate followed.

"I think you must be terribly clever," Marion said.

"To what way?"

"Why, to be married and keep right on with your work. I don't think many women can do it."

"I don't see why."

"Oh, Jane tried it for a while, but poor Carson was so miserable and made such a fuss that she had to give it up. I guess men, most of them, like their women folks at home. My father and brothers have a fit if they come home and find me out. But Robert is so easy-going, so good-natured that he'd not object if he thought you were pleased. He was always like that in everything."

"You and he were good friends."

"Regular pals! He used to come to the house a lot. I hope you will come now, both of you."

Robert called to us just then, saving me a reply. We separated soon with the usual formalities.

"Isn't Marion a peach?" Robert asked. Then without waiting: "She's the daintiest little housekeeper, Gerry. Runs that house like clock work. Hasn't much money to do it with, either. Her father doesn't earn much and the boys are too young—both of them in school. She's a born cook, too. I have had some great feasts at her house."

"It seems to me, Robert, that you think a great deal of what you eat. I never knew you were so keen about food."

"I don't think I really am, Gerry. Only I have boarded so long that home food seems to represent a home to cook and eat it in. I guess it is that more than the food itself."

"We'll have a home one of these days when we can afford it."

As often, when I made such a remark, Robert started to say something then caught himself. I can't explain why, but I never asked him what he was going to say, when he broke off like that, as would have been only natural. And I went on:

"You see we will save enough to have things real nice. Then we can entertain and do things right."

During the days following our evening at the Murphys, I often thought of Marion Hovey. Had Robert been just a bit in love with her, I wondered. He had said they were only good pals, but his face had lighted up when he greeted her, she had seemed so delighted to see him, that had I been of a jealous disposition I think the thought of their pleasure in each other might have made me a bit unhappy. But I was not jealous. It would take a great deal to make me so—to make me doubt Robert. I did not realize at that time my jealousy awakened. It would be far more intense than had it been easily aroused.

Robert had not told me that Jane Murphy went on teaching after she had married. I must ask him about it. I wondered why she had given it up. They had a nice little apartment of four rooms, but everything was very simple, the furniture, her table appointments, everything showed the need of economy. She was very bright and must have earned a fair salary. How foolish to give up until they could live in a more refined neighborhood, and have a little better apartment.

With Betty it was different. Frank Weed started more than either, Carson or Robert. He was a little older too, and had saved enough so that they had furnished nicely, and lived very well indeed. In a better neighborhood too—one thing I considered absolutely essential. Our boarding house was in a really aristocratic portion of town, a fact which made me overlook many things, not as agreeable as they might have been.

COUGHED NIGHT AND DAY FOR TWO YEARS

Mr. Parkhurst found quick relief from chronic bronchial trouble.

"Two years ago, I had a gripe which left me with a bad cough. Finally this became chronic bronchial asthma, and four doctors said it could not be cured. I commenced taking everything my friends recommended, but I got worse instead of better. For two years, I was unable to do any work except to cough constantly night and day, which was the hardest work I ever did."

"Finally I got hold of Mils Emulsion. It benefited me so much, right from the start, that it came as a God-send. In two months I was perfectly cured. I gained in health, strength and flesh rapidly."—J. M. Parkhurst, Leon St., W. Terre Haute, Ind.

Coughs like this seldom yield to local treatments. The surest way to reach them is to build up and strengthen the whole system. For any obstinate cough, Mils Emulsion is a remarkable remedy.

Mils Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Mils Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Mils Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Mils Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

SALE OF SACRED BULL TO TEXAN SAID TO HAVE CAUSED INDIAN PRIEST'S DOWNFALL

"Three Circle," the sacred bull.

"Three Circle," said to be the only sacred bull in the U. S. that was once in an Indian temple, is now on the Crescent V. ranch, Palestine, Texas. He is the property of Fred G. Lee. The animal was imported by Mr. Perden, a cattle man, at a reported cost of $75,000. It is said that an Indian priest was dethroned as the result of killing the bull. Lock has turned down fabulous offers from showmen for the bull, it is said.

JEWISH RELIEF CAMPAIGN WILL BEGIN IN XENIA

JOHN W. PRUGH HEADS COMMITTEE IN CHARGE OF LOCAL DRIVE

John W. Prugh will head the Greene County American Jewish Relief Campaign which has been inaugurated here to raise this county's share in the $35,000,000 goal set for the purpose of extending relief to the war stricken people of Central and Eastern Europe. L. Steinfeldt will act as vice-chairman for the campaign, while C. L. Babb will be treasurer and B. Schlesinger secretary of the local committee. An organization to carry on the work throughout the county will be effected immediately and the drive will be pushed rapidly. The local committee was organized by Mrs. Harry Steinberger, special lecturer and organizer for the campaign, who was chairman of the organization committee of the council of National Defense for Hamilton County. Chairman of the Industrial Welfare Committee of the Women's City Club and during the war held a government appointment for all government educational propaganda for women and children in industries, addressing business men and women throughout the war. Elbert L. Babb, chairman of the forum committee of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged for Mrs.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, senile men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you. Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

LOCAL BOARDS OF EDUCATION WILL RE-ORGANIZE SOON

Local Boards of Education all over Greene County will reorganize next Monday, by electing a president and a clerk for the coming year.

This re-organization is important and far-reaching, because the president of said local boards, by virtue of their office, are legal delegates to elect a member of the Greene County Board of Education at a meeting to take place in Xenia, Saturday, January 17, 1920.

The selection of a county board member is important to the county schools, as it is this board that will elect a county superintendent of schools within the next six months.

The presidents of some of these boards also elect a district superintendent of schools in the near future. This responsibility of the president involves not only the harmonious relations of the rural schools, but the future welfare of the boys and girls of the entire county.

MUTT AND JEFF AT OPERA HOUSE MONDAY

After seven seasons of veritable triumph Gus Hill comes back for the ninth season with his perennial success "Mutt and Jeff," in an entire new dress, entitled "Mutt and Jeff's Dream," which will be presented at the Opera House under the management of C. L. McClellan Monday evening.

When Bud Fisher conceived a long guy and short one for his comic strip, he created the greatest and most durable success in the cartoon world. The new production is as lively and original as the famous comics, containing dashes of melodrama, side-splitting farce and musical comedy. There are thirty people in the cast of the production, with a chorus of twenty well costumed girls.

Would Be a Joke.

John had been the only child in the family for five years, when one day a little baby sister came. Several weeks later the parents were talking about the little baby, saying how sweet she was and how glad they were to have a little girl. John, listening, said: "Oh, mother, wouldn't it be a good joke on you if sister turned out to be a boy?"

Play Safe.

There are several methods of distinguishing the edible from the poisonous mushroom. But the safest way is to regard them all as poisonous. Do you recall the Italian botanist whose specialty was mushrooms and who died from a mess of them?

Elbert L. Babb, chairman of the forum committee of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged for Mrs.

Steinberger to address that organization in the interests of the drive, at the noon luncheon next Wednesday at which time she will return to this city.

"The American Jewish Relief Campaign is absolutely non-sectarian, and is being assisted by the patriotic people of all denominations all over the country," explained Mrs. Steinberger. "The campaign to aid the helpless and war stricken people of Europe is being conducted through the Jewish Relief committee because of the excellent work that organization did during the war and because it is organized and prepared to handle the undertaking."

"No worthier movement has yet presented itself to the charitable hearts of the American people than that which inspires the fund which is being raised through the Jewish organization. The goal of $35,000,000 is one-fifth of the amount raised for United war work and every dollar goes to relief. All the money will be spent in this country, and will be sent over seas in the form of clothing, supplies and provisions. All of the money subscribed will go to relief as the campaign expenses are being paid for privately," she said.

Governor James M. Cox has issued a proclamation asking that every one aid in the work, and he personally contributed $1,000 to the Dayton campaign. Herbert Hoover has given the movement his backing, urging that money be raised as quickly as possible in order that children across the sea might live and H. P. Davidson, chairman of the War Board of the American Red Cross, who has just returned from overseas, says that the need is greater than during the war.

Mrs. Steinberger has called upon the aid of the ministers and churches throughout the country, and Rev. Albert Read, president of the Ministerial Association, at the request of Mrs. Steinberger has called a meeting of all ministers of Greene county, and the professors at the Xenia Theological Seminary to be held in the study of the First United Presbyterian church, Monday morning at ten o'clock, for the purpose of taking up the movement.

Subscriptions to the fund will be received at once and any information concerning the campaign, which will get under way at once, will be obtained from the officers named.

MILK DEALERS GET VENDERS LICENSES

All Xenia milk dealers have secured their licenses to sell milk and have their certificates, according to Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Officer.

The new city law governing the licensing and certification of the milk of all dealers as prepared and proposed by Dr. Grube went into effect the first of the year, and all of the local distributors qualified by paying their license fee and securing their certificate to operate.

Investigation and examination of the product being delivered by milk dealers is next step in the better milk program, according to Dr. Grube, and soon the city will have all milk sold here under surveillance. Milk that does not pass the city's tests can not be distributed when the entire power of the law is put in effect.

Only Shakespeare was endowed with that healthy equilibrium of nature whose range was elliptical, dominating all zones of human thought and action—that power of verisimilar conception which could take away Richard III from history, and Ulysses from Homer—and that creative faculty whose equal touch is alike vivifying in Shallow and Lear.—Lowell.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you. Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

Put yourself in their place!

YOU may think you read about other people when you read fiction—but really important, really great writers simply hold the mirror up to nature. They show you the man or woman you are—that you think you are—that you'd like to be or that you're glad you are not. Look through these little glimpses of Cosmopolitan stories; then get the December number and—put yourself in the place of these people.

Do you love power more than honor?

Of course you don't. But put yourself in the place of the man who could, by forfeiting honor, have founded a kingdom, gained the love of the most beautiful woman in Kashmir and lived happily thereafter "forgetful of the world and by the world forgot." This is the theme of the vibrant, colorful story by William Ashley Anderson in December Cosmopolitan.

After the ceremony?

Alone at last in a rural retreat he left his young bride for a moment. Then the other woman appeared on the scene with a diabolical scheme worthy of a woman scorned. She met the bride, told her everything and then—the scene between husband and wife and—the other woman. Bride—husband—other woman; if you were either of the three, how would you have handled the situation? The story is by Albert Payson Terhune and it's in December Cosmopolitan.

Would you have been afraid?

Where? Oh anywhere there's anything to be afraid of. Probably you would, and you wouldn't know why. That's for science to find out and explain to you. Science has found it and in "Fear Devils" Harvey O'Higgins tells you all about it. He also tells how anger causes hay fever and a lot of other interesting and important things that may cause you to change your ways of thinking. Read his remarkable article in December Cosmopolitan.

Anetta the Third was not a queen

Queens don't work in shoe shops and yearn to be cabaret dancers. In fact, Anetta was of extremely lowly parentage, but she was pretty and willful as girls sometimes are, so she became a dancer. Then, later, she had to make a decision of some moment—she made it—but what would you have done in her place? Interesting speculation will follow a reading of Ida M. Evans' story in December Cosmopolitan.

IN XENIA STREETS

A house on wheels is used as a recruiting office by an army recruiting crew from Camp Sherman which is seeking enlistments in Xenia. Mounted on a huge army truck, the soldiers have a small house built in which they receive and sign up applicants to Uncle Sam's land forces.

The little office is electric lighted. It is standing on Greene street, near the court house, where it is attracting considerable interest.

The recruiting party is in charge of Lieut. Mark C. Nott, of the Second Infantry, and in the party are First Sergeant Leo Servis, second infantry, Emil Lyons, Second Infantry, J. F. Trusley 40th Infantry and Stanley Rudowski of the Motor Transport Corps. All of the men are from Camp Sherman where their regimental headquarters are located.

The truck arrived in this city from Dayton Thursday and will leave Saturday for Wellston, Gallipolis and Portsmouth, before reporting back to the recruiting headquarters at Cincinnati.

Griffin Parsons, of near Xenia, was enlisted by the crew Thursday and was taken into the Quartermaster Corps. Friday Lester N. Hill and Paul H. Sherburn of this city, were enlisted into the Second Infantry at Camp Sherman.

SUGGEST NEW NAME FOR WOOD ALCOHOL

To call wood alcohol methylated spirits instead of its common local name, is suggested by City Health Officer Dr. R. H. Grube as a remedy to confusion between wood alcohol and grain alcohol.

The fact that grain alcohol is known to be harmless unless taken undiluted and in large quantities leads many, it is thought, to be confused in distinguishing the two forms of alcohol and think that one is as harmless as the other.

As a matter of fact, although similar in many effects, they are practically two different products, and the presence of formic acid in the wood alcohol makes the latter dangerous. In England wood alcohol is known as methylate spirits and according to Dr. Grube such a name would aid in avoiding confusion between the two.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The state department today was without advice as to the report that General Francisco Murguira, commander of Mexican federal troops in the state of Coahuila, had revolted against Carranza.

Reports that Gen. Murguira had been relieved of his command for failure to attack Villistas when they raided Muzquiz were without official confirmation, but it was believed that he was relieved he would make a vigorous protest and might refuse to give up his command.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS OF FARM BUREAU

The big membership campaign to be made by the Greene County Farm Bureau the week commencing, Jan. 11 will be launched at a banquet to be held at the Chamber of Commerce next Thursday evening at 6:30.

The speakers will be O. E. Bradfute, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, and a member of the executive committee of the National Farm Bureau, and H. P. Miller of Sunbury, Ohio. Mr. Miller is a former instructor and now a member of the staff of the Ohio Farmer and of the executive committee of the state Farm Bureau.

Membership solicitors and township chairmen are invited to the banquet and about 125 are expected. There will be a committeeman for the drive in each school district, and a whirlwind campaign will be made. The workers will discuss plans for the campaign at the Thursday night meeting and business plans will be discussed.
